BEFORE THE SECOND INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL

Present:

Shri P. K. SARKAR, Judge, Second Industrial Tribunal.

Present for the Union: Shri D. L. Sen Gupta, Advocate.

Present for the Municipality: Shri J. N. Ghosh, Pleader.

1. These two cases—one arising out of a reference under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act and another arising out of an application under section 33A of the said Act have been heard together on the prayer of the parties and this same award will govern both. The application under section 33A was filed on 15th February 1961 by Shri Krishna Gopal Bhadra against the Panihati Municipality complaining against his dismissal from the service of the Municipality with effect from 28th January 1961. The reference under section 10 was made by the Government by order No. 941-IR/IR/14L-20/60, dated the 24th February 1961, in respect of an industrial dispute raised by the Panihati Municipal Labour Welfare Union against the Panihati Municipality relating to the suspension of the aforesaid Shri Krishna Gopal Bhadra for the period from 16th January 1959 to 10th October 1960. The issue in this case is whether the said suspension was justified and to what relief, if any, he is entitled.

2. The facts of the case are that Shri Krishna Gopal Bhadra was an employee of the Panihati Municipality working as a clerk in the Collection Department. He was also the Joint Secretary of the Panihati Municipal Labour Welfare Union. On 15th January 1959 a charge-sheet was issued to him by the Chairman of the Municipality charging him with communicating information obtained in the course of his official duty to non-official persons without the permission of the authority and he was suspended with effect from 16th January 1959. He replied to the charge-sheet stating that the charge was vague and absolutely without any foundation and asking for specific particulars. No particulars were, however, supplied to him, and on 2nd February 1959 he was informed that the Municipal Commissioners had in a meeting suspended him for a period of three months from 16th January 1959. Thereafter on 13th April 1959 he was informed that the period of his suspension had been extended till further consideration of the Commissioners at a meeting. He then made an application to the High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India challenging the suspension order as illegal and void and a Rule was issued on 21st April 1959. On 20th June 1960 the Rule was made absolute and the High Court held the order, dated 13th April 1959, to be illegal and void and quashed the order by a Writ of Certiorari. The High C observed, however, that if the Commissi wished to reconsider the petitioner's case should do so in accordance with law. There Shri Krishna Gopal Bhadra wrote to the C man of the Municipality on 27th June 1960 permission to resume his duties but the Chair did not give him such permission and in asked him to produce a copy of the High Co order. He sent a copy of the order on 14th tember 1960 and renewed his prayer for joinin duties. Ultimately on 7th October 1960 the C man wrote to him that he might join his duties he resumed his duties on 11th October 1960. 28th October 1960 he was served with a charge-sheet to the effect that some time in month of October 1958 he had divulged off secrets, namely, the Ward Commissio recommendation for remission of taxes of cer persons and holdings, to Shri Biswanath Sen others with a view to defame and spread calu against the sitting Commissioners. In his ex nation, dated 8th November 1960, he denied charge and wanted full particulars regarding persons mentioned in the charge.

Some particulars were supplied to him on 2 December 1960 and he was informed that enquiry would be held on 30th December 1960. he did not attend the enquiry it was held in absence and the Chairman found that the cha against him had been proved. He recommen his dismissal and directed his report together w the entire file to be placed before a special me ing of the Municipal Commissioners. This me ing was held on 28th January 1961 and the C missioners accepting the recommendation of Chairman ordered his dismissal with immedi effect.

3. On 19th December 1959 an industrial disp between Panihati Municipality and its workm represented by the Panihati Municipal Labo Welfare Union had been referred to this Tribu by Government order No. 6910-IR/1R/14L-7 The proceeding in respect of this dispute v pending before this Tribunal when Shri Krish Gopal Bhadra was dismissed. In his applicati under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes A he challenges the order of dismissal as illegal a void, having been passed in contravention of t provisions of section 33 of the Act and also on t grounds that it was mala fide, baseless and agai the principles of natural justice. He prays for declaration to that effect and reinstatement wi full back wages. In the reference case the Un challenges the order of suspension of Shri Krish Gopal Bhadra from 16th January 1959 to 10 October 1960 as illegal, unjustified and mala fi and prays that he may be paid full wages a allowances for the said period.

4. The case of the Panihati Municipality that the order of dismissal was not passed in co travention of the provisions of section 33 of Industrial Disputes Act and could not challenged on that ground. It is stated that dispute pending at the time was not an industr dispute but only an individual dispute and that Union which was a party to that dispute had right to represent the employees of the Municip lity. It is next stated that the order of dismis was passed bona fide after full enquiry with due notice to Krishna Gopal Bhadra and that no principle of natural justice was violated in the matter of the enquiry. With regard to the reference case it was contended that the dispute was not an industrial dispute but only an individual dispute and that the order of suspension having lapsed after the order of dismissal there was nothing for the Tribunal to adjudicate upon. The first contention was not, however, pressed at the hearing.

5. I shall first take up the reference case. The issue in this case, as mentioned in the order of reference, is: Whether the suspension of Shri K. G. Bhadra for the period from 16th January 1959 to 10th October 1960 is justified? To what relief, if any, is he entitled? So far as his suspension after the expiry of three months from 16th January 1959 is concerned, the High Court quashed the Chairman's order passed on 13th April 1959 and so there can be no question that the subsequent suspension was not justified? With regard to the original order of suspension for a period of three months from 16th January 1959, since that was an order passed pending enquiry into the charge-sheet issued on 15th January 1959 and since that charge-sheet was abandoned and no action was taken on it but a fresh charge-sheet was issued on 26th/28th October 1960 on the basis of which Shri Krishna Gopal Bhadra was dismissed, that suspension should also be held to be unjustified. It cannot be contended that the said suspension had lapsed with the order of dismissal when the order of dismissal was passed on a fresh charge-sheet subsequently served. He was also not dismissed with effect from the original date of suspension but was dismissed with immediate effect from 28th January 1961. He had joined his duties on 11th October 1960 and was in service up to 28th January 1961 when he was dismissed.

6. It has, however, been contended that Shri K. G. Bhadra should have approached the Municipality for permission to join his duties after the High Court had issued the Rule with an ad interim injunction on 21st April 1959. But the order passed by the High Court on that date (Ext. E) shows that the interim injunction was issued for restraining the Municipal Commissioners from dealing with the case of Shri Bhadra at the meeting to be held on that date or until disposal of the Rule. The order passed on 13th April 1959 was not the subject-matter of the injunction and so Shri K. G. Bhadra had no reason to approach the Municipality for permission to join at that stage. Besides the copies of the correspondence file show that even after the High Court's judgment on 20th June 1960 the Chairman of the Municipality was not willing to let him join. When Shri Bhadra wrote on 27th June 1960 asking for permission to join the Chairman asked him to produce a copy of the High Court's order. That order must have been passed in the presence of the Advocate of the Municipality but still the Chairman would not allow him to join until he received a copy of the order. The copy which has been filed in this case (Ext. D) had been received by the Municipality from the High Court in August 1960. On 19th August 1960 the Vice-Chairman of the Municipality wrote to Shri Bhadra that the copy of the order had not yet been received (Ext. B-2). On 26th August 1960 he was informed that the copy had been received but even then he was not asked to come and join (Ext. 1K). It was only by the letter, dated 7th October 1960, that he was informed that he could come and join (Ext. 1-1). He received this letter on 10th October 1960 and joined on 11th October 1960 (Ext. B-4). It is therefore, clear that there was no fault or delay on the part of Shri Krishna Gopal Bhadra in the matter of joining his duties. He was always willing and anxious to join after the High Court's order and it was the Chairman who did not give him the permission to join. I award accordingly that he should be paid his full salary and allowances for the period from 16th January 1959 to 10th October 1960 in the reference case. Such payment should be made within one month from the date of publication of this award.

7. With regard to the application under section 33A the contention of the Municipality is that the application is not maintainable as there was no contravention of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act. It is, however, admitted that an industrial dispute between the Municipality and the Union had been referred to this Tribunal on 19th December 1959 and was pending at the time of dismissal. That dispute ended in an award on 25th February 1961 and a copy of that award has been filed by the Municipality (Ext. F). Though in the written statement it had been pleaded that the said dispute was an individual dispute, that plea was not pressed at the hearing. In that dispute three issues were referred for adjudication—one relating to dismissal of certain conservancy menials, another relating to wages of some workmen and the third relating to retrenchment compensation due to some workmen. It has been contended that Shri Krishna Gopal Bhadra was not a workman concerned in the said dispute because he was a clerk and the dispute related to workmen who were not clerks but menials or labourers. Reliance has been placed in this behalf on a decision of the Calcutta High Court in the case of Birendra Kumar Chatterjee versus Reliance Jute Mills, reported in 62 C.W.N. 303. In that case an application under section 33A was filed by certain clerical employees complaining against their dismissal at a time when an industrial dispute relating to retrenchment of a large number of mechanical workers was pending. It was found that the said industrial dispute had been raised at the instance of the mechanical workers only and that the petitioners under section 33A did not raise the dispute. It was held on the above facts that the petitioners were not workmen "concerned in the dispute" within the meaning of section 33A. That decision was given on the special facts of that case and is not applicable to the case before me. In this case the above industrial dispute had been raised by the Panihati Municipal Labour Welfare Union representing the workmen of the Municipality and Shri Krishna Gopal Bhadra happened to be the Joint Secretary of the Union. It cannot, therefore, be said that the dispute had not been raised by him or that he was not concerned in the dispute. In this connection a decision of the Labour Appellate Tribunal in the case of Eastern Plywood Manufacturing Co. Ltd. reported in 1952 L.A.C. 103 has been referred to by the Union. In this case it was held that an individual dispute raised by a workman may not concern other workmen but that where the dispute is a collective one and all workmen are expressly made parties to the adjudication proceedings they are all concerned in the dispute. I respectfully agree with this view. Here it is clear on the facts that the industrial dispute in question was a collective dispute raised by the abovenamed Union representing the workmen of the Municipality and that as such it concerned all the workmen including Shri Krishna Gopal Bhadra who was also an office-bearer of the Union. I find accordingly that he was a workman concerned in the dispute and that the application under section 33A is maintainable.

8. It is thus clear that the dismissal of Shri K. G. Bhadra was in contravention of the provisions of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act. Apart from that the dismissal was also unjustified on the merits. The dismissal was on a charge that he had in October 1958 divulged official secrets, namely, Ward Commissioner's recommendation for remission of taxes, to Shri Biswanath Sen and others (Ext. 2). The long enquiry report of the Chairman (Ext. C-1), however, does not disclose any evidence in support of this charge. What happened was that one Shri Biswanath Sen reported to the District Magistrate on 14th October 1958 that the demands of three holdings of Sodepore Ward standing in the names of Shri Ganesh Chandra and Sashi Charan Chatterjee and of another standing in the name of Ajodhya Maity had been written off by the Municipal Commissioners under section 163 of the B.M. Act and that the demands of a large number of holdings of Gandhinagar Colony of the same Ward had been ordered to be struck off the Demand Register by the Commissioners at a meeting held on 30th September 1958. On receipt of a copy of this complaint from the District Magistrate (Ext. A-5) the Vice-Chairman of the Municipality reported to the Chairman that the information regarding these remissions had leaked out from Krishna Gopal Bhadra who was in charge of the Demand Register of Sodepore Ward (Ext. A-4). He did not, however, say that any recommendation of Ward Commissioners had leaked out. The Chairman did not take any evidence in his enquiry as to how the information had been obtained by Shri Biswanath Sen. He said in his evidence before me that he had examined witnesses at the enquiry, but he did not name them and his report does not show that any witness was examined. On the other hand, he mentioned in the report that it was not possible to get any direct evidence on such a matter and that the matter should be decided by circumstantial evidence. But he did not also mention any circumstantial evidence in his report. He merely referred to the fact that excepting Shri Bhadra no other person had access to the official records. That cannot be true and no basis for such finding is disclosed by the report. The Chairman admitted before me that remissions of taxes granted by the Commissioners at a meeting were not at all confidential but were open to the public. The minutes of such meetings were also open to the public. Shri Bhadra as a clerk of the Collection Department had no connection with these minutes. If no such information was confidential, the charge that Shri Bhadra had divulged official secrets was not maintainable.

9. It has, however, been said that the Ward Commissioners' recommendations relating to remission of taxes are confidential. No rule to that effect has been produced and there was no proof that Shri Biswanath Sen had access to such recommendations or that they were the basis of his complaint. The complaint specifically mentions meeting of the Commissioners held on 30th September 1958 and also mentions that the demands were written off under section 163 of the B.M. A (Ext. A-5). This section provides that the Commissioners may order to be struck off the books t amount of any tax, etc. which may appear them to be irrecoverable; The complaint th refers to the action taken by the Commissioners a meeting and not to any recommendation of a Ward Commissioner. The Chairman has al admitted before me that when Shri Biswanath S complained to the District Magistrate the Co missioners had already decided about the remissio in a meeting. Shri Biswanath Sen has be examined on behalf of the Union and his eviden is that he did not see any recommendation remission of taxes and that he got informati about the remissions from certain talks he ov heard between the Chairman and another Co missioner in a tea-shop which he later verifi from the Head Clerk. The Chairman and t Head Clerk have denied it before me but even Biswanath's evidence is rejected, it does n follow that he got this information from Sh Bhadra. The fact remains that there was absolut ly no evidence before the Chairman that a recommendations of the Ward Commissione regarding remission of taxes had been divulged Biswanath Sen or that it had been divulged Shri Bhadra. In these circumstances, the findin of the Chairman in his report must be held to completely baseless and perverse. The Supren Court has laid down in the cases of Indian Ir and Steel Co. Ltd., 1958-I-L.L.J. 260, and Mackenzie & Co. Ltd., 1959-I-L.L.J. 285, th though the management of a concern has pow to direct its own internal administration a discipline, in a case of dismissal the Industri Tribunal should interfere when there is want good faith, when there is victimisation or unfa labour practice, when the management has be guilty of a basic error or violation of a princip of natural justice, or when on the materials t finding is completely baseless or perverse. He the finding was certainly perverse being absolute baseless and the circumstances detailed above al suggest that there was want of good faith. It in evidence that the Chairman did not like th Union and there is thus room for the Union contention that it was a measure of victimisatio Apart, however, from any other consideration the finding being baseless and perverse cannot b supported and I hold accordingly that the dis missal of Shri Krishna Gopal Bhadra was unjusti fied and illegal. The application under sectio 33A should therefore succeed and I direct tha Shri Krishna Gopal Bhadra be reinstated to hi former post from the date of dismissal with al back salary and allowances within one month fro the date of publication of this award.

Insertion of new section 36A in West Ben. Act XXXVII of 1950 2. After section 36 of the West Bengal Secondary Education Act, 1950, the following section shall be, and shall be deemed always to have been, inserted, namely:—

"Board to be guided by directions of the State Government. 36A. The Board shall, in exercising its powers and performing its duties under this Act, be guided by such directions, as the State Government may by notification in the Official Gazette give from time to time, regarding the scope and content of Secondary Education.".

The West Bengal Secondary Education (Amendment) Bill, 1961.

3. (1) The West Bengal Secondary Education (Amendment) Ordinance, 1961 is hereby repealed. West Ben. Ord. VII of 1961.

(2) Anything done or any action taken under the West Bengal Secondary Education Act, 1950 as amended by the said Ordinance shall be deemed to have been validly done or taken under that Act as amended by this Act as if this Act had commenced on the 31st day of July, 1961. West Ben. Act XXXVII of 1950.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Section 36 of the West Bengal Secondary Education Act, 1950 enabling the Board of Secondary Education to direct, supervise, develop and control secondary education confers certain specific powers on the Board as mentioned in sub-section (2) of section 36. These powers are however subject to the provisions of sections 34 and 35 which give the State Government overriding powers in matters of development of secondary education including general education. Although it is within the competence of the State Government to make an order laying down its policy regarding the scope and content of general education or the teaching of certain subjects in schools and in fact in pursuance of such powers Government can give effect to the recommendations of Commissions and Committees constituted for making recommendations for improvement of secondary education it is necessary to make a suitable provision in the West Bengal Secondary Education Act, 1950 for the purpose of clarification. An Ordinance (West Bengal Ordinance No. VII of 1961) to this effect was promulgated by the Governor. It is now proposed to make an amending legislation to replace the provisions of this Ordinance (West Bengal Ordinance No. VII of 1961).

(2) Anything done or any action taken under the West Bengal Estates Acquisition Act, 1953 as amended by the said Ordinance shall be deemed to have been validly done or taken under that Act as amended by this Act as if this Act had commenced on the 19th day of July, 1961. West Ben. Act I of 1954.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The West Bengal Estates Acquisition (Amendment) Ordinance, 1961, was promulgated on the 19th July, 1961 with a view mainly to remove certain difficulties with regard to the preparation of Compensation Assessment Rolls and the determination of rents for retained lands after the draft or final publication of the records-of-rights.

2. It has become necessary to make further amendments in the Act for the removal of certain lacunae and ambiguities in the Act and for securing better social justice in respect of matters relating to the retention of requisitioned lands and squatted lands, payment of ad-interim compensation and the issue of negotiable bonds.

3. The Bill has been framed with the object of enacting the provisions of the aforesaid Ordinance and of making the further amendments mentioned above.

FINANCIAL MEMORANDUM.

Second proviso to section 3 of the West Bengal Estates Acquisition Act, 1953, as inserted by the Amendment Act XVII of 1960 lays down that nothing in this Act shall affect any land the possession of which was taken by the State Government before the issue of the notification under section 4, in furtherance of any proposal for acquiring such land. Clause 2 of the Bill seeks to substitute the words "before the date mentioned in the notification issued under section 4,". The date mentioned in the notifications is the date of vesting. The notifications were issued sometime before that date. It is, however, not possible to indicate at this stage the exact additional financial liability for this change.

2. Under section 6(1) of the Act, an intermediary may retain certain lands. Clause 3 of the Bill seeks to provide that the intermediary may also retain requisitioned land which was in his khas possession immediately before the date of requisition, and that, if at any time, such land is released from requisition, land in excess of what the intermediary is entitled to retain under sub-section (1) after taking into consideration any other land which he may have retained should be acquired. It is not possible to state at this stage what amount of land would thus be surplus and what amount of compensation would be payable for acquisition of such surplus land.

Similarly, in the case of lands squatted upon by refugees from East Bengal before the date of vesting, clause 3 provides that the intermediary may also retain such land and that the State Government may at any time acquire such land, but that in the case of acquisition, land in excess of what the intermediary is entitled to retain under sub-section (1) after taking into consideration any other land which he may have retained under the other clauses shall be acquired. It is not possible to state at this stage what amount of land would be acquired and what amount of compensation would be payable therefor.

3. Section 12 of the Act provides for payment of ad-interim compensation at one-third of the net approximate annual income till the publication of the Compensation Assessment Rolls. Publication of the Compensation Assessment Rolls is not likely to be completed before 1963. If payment of ad-interim compensation is continued at this rate, cash portion of the compensation, particularly in the case of big intermediaries, will be exhausted in no time. Clause 4 of the Bill therefore seeks to empower the State Government to prescribe the amount to be paid as ad-interim compensation. It is not possible to indicate at this stage the amount to be paid as ad-interim compensation till the rate is fixed.

4. (a) Section 23 of the Act provides for payment of compensation partly in cash and partly in bonds together with interest at 3 per cent. per annum from the date of vesting up to the date of offer of payment. There is difficulty in calculating interest where the intermediary under Chapter II of the Act owns also raiyati and under-raiyati interest under Chapter VI, as the dates of vesting in such cases are different. Clause 8 of the Bill, therefore, provides that in such cases interest shall first be calculated on the compensation from the later of the two dates of vesting and that to the interest so calculated shall be added the interest on the net income of the intermediary from his interest which vested on the earlier date calculated at the same rate from such earlier date to the later date of vesting. The proposed change will not increase Government's financial liability.

(b) The clause also provides for payment of the bond portion of the compensation below Rs.50 in cash. As such, the cash portion of the compensation will be increased from Rs.17 crores to Rs.18.25 crores. The bond portion will be correspondingly reduced from Rs.33.11 crores to Rs.31.86 crores. Interest on cash will increase by Rs.24 lakhs with corresponding reduction in interest on bonds.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

In the course of the administration of the West Bengal Lifts and Escalators Act, 1955 (West Bengal Act V of 1955), it has come to the notice of Government that the owners of certain premises do not have the present possession of or control over the lifts installed in the premises before the commencement of the Act and maintained by the occupiers (who are not covered by the definition of 'owner' set out in the Explanation to section 3) of the premises by operation of law or by virtue of some agreement. There are, also, certain lifts installed after the commencement of the Act for which the necessary permission under section 3 has not been obtained or for the working of which no license has been applied for within the time prescribed in the Act. Under the existing provisions of the Act the making of applications for licenses for the working of such lifts is not permissible. In order to remove these difficulties it is necessary to amend the Act, making it possible for persons actually maintaining and/or using a lift to apply for such license.

It is, also, necessary to make express provision in the said Act for the issue of distress warrants for the recovery of arrears of inspection fees, etc. and also for the creation of a class of lift attendants as well as for the levy of certain other fees not clearly mentioned in the Act.

The present Bill has been brought forward with a view to amending the Act accordingly.

and any such investigation, legal proceeding or remedy may be instituted, continued or enforced, and any such penalty, forfeiture, or punishment may be imposed as if this Act had not been passed.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Experience of the operation of the Bengal Money-lenders Act, 1940, during the last two decades suggests that in order to protect the borrower more effectively from exploitation by unscrupulous money-lenders it is necessary to enlarge the scope of the Act, to strengthen the safeguards against the malpractices and machinations resorted to by certain money-lenders as well as to amend the Act in some other respects.

It is, accordingly, proposed to bring within the ambit of the Bengal Money-lenders Act transactions such as deposit of money or other property, loans to or by a registered society, loans to purchase or to build a house within Calcutta or any other municipal area and commercial loans up to Rs. 10,000. These are outside the scope of the present Act.

The definition of "Bank" in the Act has been modified in consonance with the provisions of the Banking Companies Act, 1949.

For more effective supervision of money-lenders and for regulation and control of money-lending in accordance with the statutory provisions it is proposed to appoint an Inspecting staff.

The rupee has depreciated considerably since the passing of the Bengal Money-lenders Act, 1940. It is proposed to raise the rate of interest from 8 per cent. simple to 10 per cent. simple on secured loans and from 10 per cent. simple to 12½ per cent. simple on unsecured loans. It is also proposed to prohibit compound interest.

The discrimination between pre-Act loans and post-Act loans regarding payment of interest in section 31 of the Act is proposed to be abolished; and section 36 is being amended in the light of judicial decisions on the subject.

It is also proposed to relax the provision of the proviso to section 58(c) of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882, on mortgage by conditional sale in the case of a loan against mortgage to give an opportunity to a borrower to prove that the transaction was in substance a mortgage by conditional sale.

The borrower is sometimes compelled by circumstances to agree to an inflated amount being shown as the principal in the instrument creating the loan. As section 92 of the Indian Evidence Act is a bar to oral evidence to show that the principal advance is different from that stated in the instrument, the borrower is helpless in fighting the machinations of the money-lenders. It is proposed to enact provisions making oral evidence admissible in any suit or criminal proceedings instituted under the Bengal Money-lenders Act.

In order to avoid multiplicity of statutes it is proposed to repeal the Usury Laws Repeal Act, 1855 and the Bengal Money-lenders Act, 1933 fully, and the Usurious Loans Act, 1918 partially.

The Bill has been drawn up to legislate for such purposes as are indicated above.

Act XV of 1932.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The Court's power to set aside a municipal general election, to restrain the holding of a general election, or restrain the elected Commissioners from functioning, is wider under article 226 of the Constitution than under the Bengal Municipal Act, 1932. Moreover, the power under the Constitution may be exercised at any time. As a consequence, it has become necessary to make provisions in the Bengal Municipal Act for—

(1) the holding of a general election even after the expiry of the term of office of sitting Commissioners,

(2) the validation of the Commissioners' acts done before their election is set aside or before their holding of office is declared invalid, and

(3) the appointment, in the absence of the Commissioners, of a person or persons to discharge the Commissioners' functions

In the Bhatpara Municipality, there was a general election held before the expiry of the term of office of the sitting Commissioners and so those Commissioners continued in office after the expiry of their term on the strength of section 56(2) of the Bengal Municipal Act. The newly elected Commissioners were first restrained from assuming office by an order of the Calcutta High Court and then their election was set aside. It was further held by the High Court in another subsequent case that the old body of Commissioners could not continue in office under section 56(2). To meet the immediate situation, section 67A was amended by an Ordinance.

This Bill includes the provisions of the said Ordinance and also the other provisions referred to above. Incidentally section 56(2) is also sought to be amended to remove a lacuna.

Again, it has been recently held by the Calcutta High Court that the provision in the Bengal Municipal Act for realisation of municipal dues by distraint is discriminatory and hence unconstitutional because of the alternative provision for such realisation by suit. In order to make the provision for distraint constitutional, an amendment is proposed in the Bill so that the institution of a suit shall no longer be an alternative procedure.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Government have decided that, on the occasion of the hundredth birth anniversary of Poet Rabindranath Tagore, a University named as Rabindra Bharati should be established in the ancestral house of the Poet to perpetuate his memory. The University will endeavour to follow the educational ideals of the Poet as expressed in his writings on education.

The aims and objects of the new University would be as follows:—

(1) To provide for the intensive study and research of the creative contributions that the versatile genius of Poet Rabindranath Tagore has made to the country and to the humanity at large, covering a wide field, e.g., literature, religion, philosophy, education, social science, human psychology, music, drama, fine arts, etc., and to provide facilities for such studies and research by maintaining a well-equipped library and providing facilities necessary for such study and research.

(2) To provide for the study and research of folk music and folk dance and the indigenous rural culture of India and to arrange for their preservation before they become extinct with the impact of modernism.

(3) To provide for the study of the different languages and literature of India and to create a cultural meeting ground for litterateurs from all over India.

(4) To establish, in the ancestral house of Poet Rabindranath Tagore, a Memorial Museum, to perpetuate the memory of the Poet.

(5) To provide for instruction and training in music, dance and drama with special emphasis on the contributions of Poet Rabindranath Tagore to these subjects.

(6) To lay down a standard for the teaching of music, dance and drama and to recognise and affiliate to the University institutions teaching music, dance and drama in West Bengal.

(7) To provide for instructions and training in Fine Arts, with special emphasis on art appreciation, art criticism and the study of comparative arts of different countries and different periods of history, and to recognise and affiliate institutions teaching Fine Arts.

To facilitate the maintenance of liaison and good relationship between the Visva-Bharati and the Rabindra Bharati, the Bill provides for a representative of the Visva-Bharati recommended by its Upacharya to be included as a member of the Rabindra Bharati. Representatives of Academy of Fine Arts, of Bangiya Sahitya Parishad and of the Asiatic Society have also been included among the members of the University.

While the proposed University will have the power to affiliate institutions teaching music, fine arts, dance and drama and will have jurisdiction over the entire State for exercising the power, it will not affiliate to itself any institution which provides instructions or training only in the general subjects of humanities or science.

It is desirable that this University should begin to function effectively within the Centenary Year and legislation is accordingly being undertaken to establish "The Rabindra Bharati" in the ancestral house of the Poet.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The need for establishing new Universities in West Bengal has been acknowledged on all hands and the Burdwan University Act, 1959 and the Kalyani University Act, 1960 have recently been passed by the State Legislature. The Calcutta University has for a long time served the cause of higher education not only in Bengal but large areas outside Bengal, but in recent years, the demand for higher education is so much on the increase that the facilities which can be offered by the Colleges and the Calcutta University itself are proving too inadequate to cope with these growing numbers, particularly in respect of Post-Graduate classes.

In 1948 the number of students who appeared for the Intermediate, First Degree and Post-Graduate Examinations of the Calcutta University were respectively 13556, 4068 and 900. In 1960, the corresponding numbers were 62597, 21891 and 2190.

In order that greater facilities may be made available to the ever-growing student population in West Bengal and to prevent overcrowding within the jurisdiction of the Calcutta University, legislation is being undertaken to establish a new teaching and affiliating University in the Northern part of West Bengal whose jurisdiction will extend over the districts of Darjeeling, Jalpaiguri, Cooch Behar, Malda and West Dinajpur.

Apart from the usual Humanities and Science subjects, the proposed University is expected to provide facilities for teaching of special subjects, and professional education, e.g., Engineering, Medical and the like. This will serve in particular the needs of the area within the jurisdiction of the University.

South—1096 (portion).

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The Tulsiram Lakshmi Devi Jaiswal Hospital, Lillooah, Howrah, was established under a Trust Deed executed on the 18th February, 1946 by Sm. Lakshmi Devi, widow of late Tulsiram Jaiswal. Shri Bandi Prosad Jaiswal and Shri Sa'la Kumar Mukherjee (or their successors) were appointed Trustees. The said Trust Deed provided for the establishment of a hospital with 50 beds, the number being increased to 500 within a period of seven years from the date of the establishment of the hospital. It also provided for the establishment of a Medical College.

The Trustees have not, however, been able to establish a Medical College or to provide the stipulated number of beds. They have been maintaining 40 beds only. They took up construction of a multi-storied building for expansion of the hospital but could not make any progress for want of funds. The Trustees accordingly approached the State Government with a proposal to take over the hospital with its assets and liabilities for expansion, improvement and maintenance, excluding the "Basu Memorial Leprosy Clinic" which is located in the hospital compound but is separate from the hospital.

In a congested industrial area like Howrah there is urgent need for increasing existing hospital facilities. According to estimate there should be about 600 hospital beds but there are only 252 beds in the Howrah General Hospital.

With a view, therefore, to making provision for an adequate number of beds to meet the requirements of the locality by expanding and improving the Tulsiram Lakshmi Devi Jaiswal Hospital it is proposed to take over the institution through legislation and run it as a State institution.

The Bill has been drafted with that object in view.

It has been the endeavour of this Government since Independence to adopt the Bengali language for use for official purposes of this State. Executive instructions have from time to time been issued to all Departments of this Government to use the Bengali language for official purposes as far as practicable. The Bill has been drafted with the object of providing by law the adoption of Bengali as the language to be used in this State for such official purposes as may be specified from time to time by notification.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The Tulsiram Lakshmi Devi Jaiswal Hospital, Lillooah, Howrah, was established under a Trust Deed executed on the 18th February, 1946 by Sm. Lakshmi Devi, widow of late Tulsiram Jaiswal. Shri Bandi Prosad Jaiswal and Shri Saila Kumar Mukherjee (or their successors) were appointed Trustees. The said Trust Deed provided for the establishment of a hospital with 50 beds, the number being increased to 500 within a period of seven years from the date of the establishment of the hospital. It also provided for the establishment of a Medical College.

The Trustees have not, however, been able to establish a Medical College or to provide the stipulated number of beds. They have been maintaining 40 beds only. They took up construction of a multi-storied building for expansion of the hospital but could not make any progress for want of funds. The Trustees accordingly approached the State Government with a proposal to take over the hospital with its assets and liabilities for expansion, improvement and maintenance, excluding the "Basu Memorial Leprosy Clinic" which is located in the hospital compound but is separate from the hospital.

In a congested industrial area like Howrah there is urgent need for increasing existing hospital facilities. According to estimate there should be about 600 hospital beds but there are only 252 beds in the Howrah General Hospital.

With a view, therefore, to making provision for an adequate number of beds to meet the requirements of the locality by expanding and improving the Tulsiram Lakshmi Devi Jaiswal Hospital it is proposed to take over the institution through legislation and run it as a State institution.

The Bill has been drafted with that object in view.

The financial implications in this connection are estimated as follows:—

A. Non-recurring.

I. Buildings:

(a) Hospital buildings as per estimates of the Public Works Department.		Rs. 12,59,000
(b) Staff Quarters as per type plans.		Rs. 11,19,000
	Total ..	Rs. 23,78,000

II. Equipments:

(i) Equipment at the rate of Rs. 3,000 per bed for 220 additional beds.		Rs. 6,60,000
(ii) Ad-hoc provision for equipment for 40 existing beds at the rate of Rs. 1,500 each.		Rs. 60,000
	Total ..	Rs. 7,20,000
TOTAL Non-recurring expenditure (Rs. 23,78,000 plus Rs. 7,20,000).		Rs. 30,98,000

B. Recurring expenditure—

Staff and other expenditure .. .. .. Rs. 7,80,000 p.a.

Moreover, according to clause 3(c) of the Bill all debts and liabilities of the hospital as it will actually stand on the date of taking over will have to be accepted by State Government.

BILL No. 9 OF 1961

The Constitution (Amendment) Bill, 1961

(As introduced in Lok Sabha)

further to amend the Constitution of India.

BE it enacted by Parliament in the Twelfth Year of the Republic of India as follows:—

Short title.

1. This Act may be called the Constitution (Amendment) Act, 1961.

Amendment of Article 226.

2. In Article 226 of the Constitution, in clause (1), the following proviso shall be added at the end, namely:—

"Provided that nothing in this article shall be deemed to preclude a High Court within whose jurisdiction any cause of action arises from issuing to the Government of India any such direction, order or writ merely on the ground that the seat of that Government is not within the territories in relation to which the High Court exercises jurisdiction".

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

Under several decisions of the Supreme Court, it has been held that any High Court other than the High Court of Punjab cannot issue any direction, order or writ under Article 226 of the Constitution to the Government of India because the seat of the Government of India is not located within the jurisdiction of that High Court. This causes unnecessary hardship to various persons to proceed against the Government of India under that article, even if they have a just grievance. The Law Commission has recommended the removal of this anomaly. Hence this Bill.

INTERIM AWARD

The Government of West Bengal, Labour Department by an order No. 35381.R./IR/11L-84/58, dated the 22nd August 1958, referred to this Tribunal for adjudication of an industrial dispute existing between some colleges in Calcutta, numbering 10, as mentioned in the list attached to the order of reference and the non-teaching staff represented by West Bengal College Employees' Association.

Notices were issued upon the parties for appearance and for filing written statements.

Thereafter on 12th September 1958, (1) Brahmo Samaj Education Society, (2) Amiya Kumar Sen, Secretary of the said Society, (3) City College (General) situated at 102/1 Amherst Street, (4) City College (Commerce), situated at 13 Surya Sen Street, filed a petition before the Hon'ble High Court, under Article 226 of the Constitution making the West Bengal College Employees' Association, the Tribunal and the Government parties thereto praying for a direction prohibiting the Tribunal to proceed with the adjudication on the ground that the reference was bad in law and the activities of the petitioners could not be termed as an 'industry' as their activities were confined to running purely educational institution without any motive to make profit. Similar application was also filed by Shri P. K. Basu, Principal of Bangabasi College, a party in the Order of Reference. The Hon'ble High Court issued a rule whereby further proceedings were kept stayed with respect to the City College (General), the City College (Commerce) and Bangabasi College. In the meantime the Government of West Bengal issued a corrigendum which by the original order, dated the 22nd August was amended to the extent that instead of describing the parties to the dispute as 'between colleges named in the attached list and their teaching staff' the same was described as 'between the Authorities of the Colleges named in the attached list and their workmen'. So far as the list of the Colleges are concerned, the description was changed with respect to the City College (General) and the City College (Commerce), shown separately as two units in the order of reference and it is described as City College and its Commerce Department with the addresses of the location of the units remaining the same.

The Tribunal was informed on 4th September 1959 that the Rule issued by the Hon'ble High Court had been discharged. Thereafter the West Bengal College Employees' Association (hereinafter referred to as the Union) filed the written statement on 17th December 1959. In the written statement the Union expressed the grievances of the subordinate staff (ministerial, supervisory, technical) and lower subordinate staff, in the matter of the several points of industrial dispute for the adjudication of which issues have been framed by the Government in the order of reference. It is stated in the written statement that these colleges are the premier educational institutions in West Bengal and these are in the nature of private and organised institutions which can very well be compared to commercial firms and that some of the colleges have already undertaken expansion work involving several lacs of rupees and some have enormous reserves created thereby depriving the employees of their hard-earned legitimate share. It is alleged that the employees made honest attempts to come to an amicable settlement with the Authorities of the Colleges by making direct approach and also by moving the Labour Commissioner, Government of West Bengal for conciliation and when all such attempts failed the Government had referred the dispute to the Tribunal for adjudication.

In Annexures 'A' and 'B' attached to the written statement, the Union described the different categories of workmen who are the parties or employees involved in this industrial dispute, and mentioned the scales of pay and dearness allowance which are demanded for such employees. The Union also submitted in the written statement their claims with respect to the other matters relating to issues Nos. 3 to 8 in the order of reference. The employees, who are covered in this dispute, are classified in 28 categories including clerks, doing various duties, Laboratory assistants, librarians, electricians and subordinate staff.

The authorities of the Bangabasi College through Shri Prasanta Kumar Basu, Principal of the College, the authorities of the Surendra Nath College through Shri Ramani Mohan Roy, Principal of the College, the authorities of the Vidyasagar College through Shri H. P. Dey, Vice-Principal and Secretary of the Governing Body of Vidyasagar College, the authorities of the City College through Shri A. Sen, Principal of the City College, the authorities of the Asutosh College ough Shri K. N. Sen, Principal of the College, authorities of the Muralidhar Girls' College ough Shri Sovamoy Banerjee, Secretary of the lege, and the authorities of the Charu Chandra lege through Shri K. Basu, Principal of the lege, filed their respective written statements on eral dates starting from 20th January 1960. authorities of other two Colleges, viz., Paul's College and Scottish Church College, filed their written statements in due course.

The authorities of the City College, the Bangaj College, the Vidyasagar College, the Asutosh lege, the Charu Chandra College and the uralidhar Girls' College raised a preliminary jection that the aforesaid colleges cannot be said be an 'industry' within the meaning of the lustrial Disputes Act. It is alleged that the thorities of these colleges in carrying on the ivities of the colleges do not pursue any such rk which can be described as industry within meaning of the Industrial Disputes Act and, refore, the Tribunal has no jurisdiction to hear dispute as the reference by itself is illegal. e Vidyasagar College in paragraphs 23 and 25 the written statement (filed on 6th February 60) further alleged that the West Bengal College mployees' Association, i.e., the Union, is not a gally constituted body under the Indian Trade nions Act and that the Labour Commissioner had jurisdiction to intervene in the matter of indusial dispute and that the present reference under e Industrial Disputes Act is ultra vires. The estion, therefore, arises for consideration as to ether the dispute as raised by the Union is an dustrial dispute within the meaning of the dustrial Disputes Act and whether the Tribunal s got jurisdiction to enter into the merits of the spute. Further question raised by the Vidyagar College is to the effect that the West Bengal llege Employees' Association is not a legally nstituted body entitled to be registered as a ade Union under the Trade Unions Act. The thorities of the Surendra Nath College as well ised a similar objection in paragraphs 17 and 19 their written statement, that the West Bengal llege Employees' Association is not a legally nstituted body under the Trade Union Act.

pparently, when the authorities of all these n colleges raised legal objections regarding the dity of the order of reference, it became necesfor me to enter into the questions as preliminy points. I thus took up for consideration the l objection as to jurisdiction before entering the merits of the points of the dispute.

he objection taken by the Vidyasagar College the Surendra Nath College, is that the ployees of the colleges are not legally entitled form a Trade Union within the meaning of the de Unions Act of 1926, and registration of h a Trade Union being void ad initio, the erence of the dispute at the instance of such a ly, which is a nullity in the eye of law, is bad law.

There is no dispute on the point that there exists registered Trade Union, in the name of West ngal College Employees' Association. It pears from the evidence that the workmen of e colleges in West Bengal are members of that Union. Whether an association of workmen, should be registered as a Trade Union, is mainly a concern of the Registrar of Trade Unions. It is contended that the registration of this Trade Union is bad in law. Now under section 2(h) of the Trade Unions Act, a 'Trade Union' means any combination whether temporary or permanent, formed primarily for the purpose of regulating the relations between workmen and employers or between workmen and workmen, or between employers and employers or for imposing restrictive conditions on the conduct of any trade or business. I am not concerned here about the combination of employers, forming a Trade Union as in this case the employees of the colleges have got themselves registered as a Trade Union. For the purpose of regulating their relations with the employer. It is, however, apparent that only such employees who are workmen as defined in section 2(g) of Act XVI of 1926, can form a Trade Union.

A workman as defined in the said Act means all persons employed in trade or industry whether or not in the employment of the employer with whom the trade dispute arises. Naturally, in order that an employee, may be termed as a workman, he must be one employed in trade or industry. The words trade and industry are not defined in the Trade Unions Act even though the word 'industry' is defined in a most general terms, in section 2(j) of the Industrial Disputes Act. A Trade Union, as defined in section 2(h) of Act XVI of 1926, is to be interpreted as one connected with trade or business, i.e., a commercial undertaking. The rights conferred upon the employees by the Trade Unions Act, appear to be restricted to a defined category of Union, that is, those formed by the combination of workers employed in any trade or business, as the terms are understood in their ordinary meaning. In this view, I am inclined to hold that the registration of such a Union by the Registrar, was perhaps not legally valid. In the case reported in Vol. XX F.J.R. at page 52 (V. Rangaswami and another versus Registrar of Trade Union, Madras), the Hon'ble High Court in an appeal, preferred under section 11 of Trade Unions Act, upheld the orders of the Registrar of Trade Union, who refused registration of a union formed by the combination of a number of persons employed in various capacities as household staff, peons, chowkidars, tailors, gardeners, sweepers, etc., at the Governor's household. In that case the Hon'ble High Court expressed doubt if the Industrial Disputes Act and the Trade Unions Act could be said to be constituting an allied system or code of legislature, so that either could be read together as in pari materia, that is, as forming one system and interpreting one in the light of another. It seems that there is substance in the contention raised by the learned Lawyers appearing for these two colleges that the Registrar of Trade Unions, should not have allowed registration of such an Union But even assuming that such registration under the Trade Unions Act, should not have been allowed, it still remains to be determined if the dispute as referred to this Tribunal, can be said to be bad, just because of the fact that such a Trade Union, is shown as representing the workmen. The dispute, as referred to by the Government, for adjudication, is between the employers and the workmen. It would be wrong to take the dispute as between an employer in one side and any Trade Union, in another side. Even if there be no Trade Union of the workmen, the workmen may still raise an industrial dispute, on the existence of which the Government may in their discretion refer the same for adjudications. The legality of the reference must be judged from that angle. Once it is shown that a body of workers, either acting through their Union or otherwise had sponsored the workers' cause, it becomes an industrial dispute—the award made as a result of the adjudication is binding on the workmen, who are the real parties to the dispute—that is those who are employed in the establishment to which the dispute relates an all person, who subsequently become employed in that establishment. The Union is no party to the dispute or the award. The mention of the name of a particular Union, as representing the workmen, is merely for the sake of convenience so that the Tribunal may know to whom it should give notice when proceeding to deal with the reference. As it is not possible for the Tribunal to serve notice upon all the workmen, concerned in the dispute, the difficulty arising from that, is solved by giving notice to the particular Trade Union or Association of workmen as mentioned in the Order of Reference. That such an Association of the employees do exist, is not challenged. It is simply alleged that the Trade Union should not have been registered by the Registrar of Trade Unions. Even if the Union had not been registered, the combination of the workmen, in the shape of a trade union or association remained a patent fact. At best it would be said that such a body of association of workmen should not be legally taken as the registered trade union. Even an unregistered body of workmen or as in this case, a registered Trade Union of workmen, which, should not have been registered, is perfectly entitled, to represent the cause of the workmen, in an industrial dispute. I accordingly hold that the dispute as referred to is not bad, in law, just because of the fact that, in the order of reference the workmen are said to be represented by a Trade Union, which though duly registered by the proper authority, might not have been so registered. So long as it remains an undeniable fact that a dispute is existing between the college authorities and their workmen comprising of the staff, employed by such authorities in these institutions, there is no point in throwing off the reference as being bad in law, simply on the ground that the registration as trade union, under the Act, of a body of workmen, engaged in the college, was something not warranted under the Trade Unions Act. At the same time, I hold that, so long as the registration of the Union is not cancelled, there is no legal bar in allowing the workmen to be represented by Shri Panchanan Bhattacherjee, the President of the Union, under section 36(1) of the Industrial Disputes Act. In fact, the question of representation under section 36 of the Industrial Disputes Act is entirely different from the point of representation of workmen, in the order of reference under section 10 of the Act. It would be completely outside my jurisdiction, to cancell the registration of the trade union, known as the West Bengal College Employees' Association and decide that the registration itself is void, and thus refuse representation of the workmen by the office-bearer of the Union.

Let me now consider the other points of l objections as taken by the authorities of colleges that the said colleges are solely and pu educational institutions and, therefore, the dis as referred to for adjudication cannot be sai be an 'industrial dispute' as defined under sec 2(k) of the Industrial Disputes Act. It is tended that the disputes or differences between employers of colleges and the employees as reg condition of service cannot be termed as 'indust dispute'. It has got to be seen whether the par to the dispute can be said to be the 'employer' the 'workman' within the meaning of the Ind trial Disputes Act. The word 'workmen' defined in section 2(s) of the Industrial Disp Act means any person employed in any indus and, therefore, it is only when a person is empl ed in any industry as defined in section 2(j) of Industrial Disputes Act that the dispute can said to be an 'industrial dispute'. The employ subject to the Army Act or the Air Force Act the Navy (Discipline) Act, employees in the pol force or in the prison are excluded. It follo therefore that before an Industrial Tribunal assume jurisdiction, it has got to be satisfied t the dispute, as referred to, is an industrial disp taking into consideration the meaning of the w 'industry' as defined in section 2(j) of the Ind trial Disputes Act. There is no doubt that Managing Committees of the colleges and not Board of Trustees stand in the position of emplo er. The appropriate Government is the sole auth rity to form an opinion as to the factual existen of an industrial dispute and decide the question to whether a reference under section 10(1) of t Industrial Disputes Act should be made. But spite of that, it has got to be remembered that t making of a reference by the Government und the Industrial Disputes Act is so done in the exe cise of the administrative power and that is n destructive of the rights of an aggrieved part show what was referred to, was not an indust dispute at all. Naturally, therefore, unless dispute referred to is found by me upon consid tion of the facts as constituting an industrial pute, the reference by itself would fail as be outside the jurisdiction of this Tribunal making any adjudication. It is, therefore, ne sary to consider how far the activities of t colleges can be said to be such as satisfying definition the word 'industry' as given under Industrial Disputes Act. For that it is necessa first of all to examine from the evidence the org constitution and aims and objects of the seve colleges one by one. It is also to be examined wh are the activities of these colleges and, if t authorities of the colleges, carry on any activit in the shape of business, trade or manufacture.

From the side of the employers, Shri Kanai Roy Chowdhury, Special Officer of Finance Surendra Nath College, Shri S. K. Roy, Vic Principal of the Bangabasi College, Shri Gi Kanta Bhattacherjee, the Head of the Departm of Mathematics, Vidyasagar College, Shri Ka Lal Mukherjee, Accountant of the Charu Chan College, Shri Keshaveswar Basu, Secretary of City College (Commerce Department), Shri Sa Kumar Bose, Professor of City College (Genera Shri Khagendra Nath Sen, Principal of Asutosh College, were examined. From the side

he Union, Shri Sunil Kumar Mukherjee, an office-ssistant of the City College, Shri Ajit Kumar Bhattacherjee, an office-clerk of Surendranath College, Shri Saila Bhusan Basu, Head Clerk, Bangabasi College, Shri Haridas Bhanja, a Senior Lecturer in Chemistry of the City College, Shri Sailendra Kishore Dey, Laboratory Assistant of Vidyasagar College, Shri Taraknath Mukherjee, office-assistant of Charu Chandra College, Shri Sisir Kumar Sen, a Stenographer of the Asutosh College, were examined.

Besides, a large volume of documentary evidence comprising of the prospectus of the colleges, the different publications of the City College, the memorandum of association of the bodies, connected with the different colleges, the correspondence that passed between the Union and the colleges, etc., are filed by the parties. I shall refer to the documents as and when necessary in course of my decision.

It appears from the Calendar, published by the University of Calcutta, Part I, in 1956, as well as from the prospectus of the Bangabasi College, Ext. 4 and Ext. 4(a), that the Bangabasi College had its origin in a School in May 1887. The School was raised to the standard of a college in the self-same year and then to the B.A. Standard in May 1896. When the Calcutta University was re-organised under the Act of 1904, the College became affiliated in all the major subjects in Arts and Science in B.A. and B.Sc. standard. Subsequently, Evening classes for B.Sc. and B.A. students were opened in 1945 and 1947 respectively. In the meantime the college became affiliated to B.Com. standard in 1942. P.W. 3, Shri Roy, Vice-Principal of the College, stated that the main sources of income of the college are: (i) tution fee, (ii) admission fee, (iii) sports fee, (iv) magazine fee, (v) printing charge, and (vi) electric charge, and all these charges except tution fee are collected as session charge. The University Calendar further shows that the extra-curricular activities of this institution include the college magazine founded in 1903, a commonroom provided with indoor games and a gymnasium. The management of the college is entrusted to a governing body in which there are some members who are nominees of the Board of Trustees. Shri Roy, who is also the Bursar of the College, stated in the cross-examination that a sum of Rs. 1,70,000 had been kept in fixed deposit in Banks and some amount had also been kept in the Current Accounts. Naturally, the surplus income of the college had to be kept deposited in Banks by the Governing Body and from that it cannot be said that the college authorities had been carring on any business in investment of money to derive profit out of that. Such investment, is not shown to have been made in any commercial security or in a marketable shares or debentures or loans, of any company. The College canteen, run by the Students' Association, cannot be said to be forming any part of the activities of the college authorities. There is a Workshop attached to the College where generally repair work is undertaken. Besides, small instruments necessary for laboratory work, are manufactured there. But at the same time, such manufacture is not done for the purpose of sale in market. Now, under the Regulations of the Calcutta University, all colleges teaching physics up to B.A. or B.Sc. standard, must maintain a Workshop attached to the laboratory and I am inclined to hold that the Workshop attached to the college, is so maintained, in accordance with the University Regulations.

Surendranath College was originally established as a School in January 1880, and two years after that the management of that institution passed entirely into the hands of Sir Surendranath Banerjea who became the sole proprietor of the Institution. Sir Surendranath Banerjea raised the school to the status of a first-grade college and named the same as 'The Ripon College' in 1884. In 1909 Sir Surendranath Banerjea handed over the college and the attached school to a Board of Trustees. The Board of Trustees expanded the activities of the Institution by addition of the Department of Commerce in 1940, the Women's Department in 1948 and the Evening Science Department in 1947.

The Trust Deed, Ext. A, dated the 15th January 1909, indicate that Sir Surendranath Banerjea divested himself of all private rights of property over the educational institution known as 'the Ripon College' including the Law Department and the Ripon School and vested them in the Trustees so that the said Institutions might be converted into a public institutions. It appears from the said deed that the Trustees thus became in possession of all rights, titles, interest of the educational institutions together with the furniture, books, maps, library, instruments and all other appurtenances held and used in the said Institutions. It appears from Ext. 1 that the Board of Trustees now consists of six persons of which Dr. J. N. Mukherjee is the President and Shri R. M. Roy, Principal of the Day Section, is the Secretary. The actual administration and control of the Institutions are vested in a College Council comprising of 15 persons including the Principal of Arts and Science, Day Department, the Principal of the Law Department, the Principal of the Commerce Department and the representatives of the teaching staff comprising of five persons.

The extra-curricular activities of the college comprise of making provisions of first-aid and physical culture, a College Union looking after the Commonroom, debates, Extension Lectures, excursions, etc. There is a hostel known as 'Surendranath Chhatrabas' which accommodates 150 students as boarders, for which the college pays as rent a sum of Rs 900 to the University of Calcutta, which is recouped from the students by way of electric charge and seat-rent.

The Union submitted a document, Ext. 1, showing the names of persons who are the members of the Board of Trustees and who are members of the Council. A separate Council for the Women Section, under a Vice-Principal, was created in June 1960, presumably because it had been found necessary to split up the colleges into distinct units, in order to secure the benefit of the deficit grant in the pay of the teaching staff, from the U.G.C. grant, directing, reduction in the number of students in colleges having more than 1,500 students in the roll. It appears that the authorities of the college would make the Commerce Department as well a separate unit. It appears from the evidence of Shri Roy Chowdhury, Special Officer of Finance, that the interest obtained from the money deposited as 'Reserve' is not shown in the Balance Sheet. This is an irregularity no doubt. But it cannot be said that the college is being run with a view to earn profit for the personal gain of the authorities of the college. Obviously, use of electric pumps for supply of water to the institution and to the laboratory attached to the same cannot be considered as independent activity not directly connected with the object and purpose of imparting education.

The Vidyasagar College was originally founded in 1859, under the name of "Calcutta Training School" and the management of which was vested in a Committee consisting of the founders of the institution and a few other members. In 1864 the management devolved entirely on Pandit Iswar Chandra Vidyasagar, and the name of the Institution was given as 'the Metropolitan Institution, Calcutta'. In 1872 it was raised to the status of the college. By 1872 the college became affiliated to the B.A., B.Sc., B.Com. standard. In 1894 the properties of the college were vested in a body of Trustees which is called the Vidyasagar Institute. The object of the Institute as stated in the Memorandum of Association of the Vidyasagar Institute indicate that it would be (i) the education of Indian Students through the Metropolitan Institutions and its branches and the Vidyasagar College, (ii) the diffusion of useful knowledge in the Bengali and other vernacular languages of this country (vide Ext. C). From the evidence of Shri Gour Kanta Bhattacherjee (P.W. 4), who is the Head of the Department of the Mathematics of the College, it appears that the entire management of the college is vested in the Governing Body and that the Vidyasagar Institute which is the body of Trustees for the several Institutions has got no control over the management or finance of the college. There are, of course, three representatives of the Institute as members of the Governing Body of the College. Shri Bhattacherjee categorically stated that the college has no other activities except to teach the student and the college has no commercial enterprise. The accounts of the Vidyasagar college for the year ending 31st May 1960, indicate that they have got an investment of Rs. 1,27,468.00 nP. in Fixed Deposit or G.P. Notes carrying interest from 3 per cent. to 4 per cent. This investment also cannot be said to have been done with the motive to earn any profit in the shape of a business transaction.

The Asutosh College which was originally named as 'The South Suburban College', came into existence in 1916 at the initiative taken by the General Committee of the South Suburban School, a Society formed in 1872 for imparting education to youngmen in South Calcutta and registered under Act XXI of 1860. The management of the college was however placed under the control of Governing Body of which Sir Asutosh Mukherjee was the President. After the death of Sir Asutosh Mukherjee, the college was named after him in 1924. The College was incorporated as a Society registered under the Act XXI of 1860, in March 1927. Exhibit 6, the prospectus for 1959-60, gives a short history of the college. The building in which the college is located is the property of the Asutosh Memorial Institute. The said institute is also the owner of the furniture which are used in common by all the three colleges. Some of the members of the Governing Body of the Asutosh College are the nominees of the Asutosh Memorial Institute. In the said building practically three colleges are located: (1) Asutosh College, (2) Asutosh College for women now named Jogamaya College and (3) Asutosh College of Commerce. There is a central organisation for the purpose of meeting the common expenses of all these three branches which are named as separate colleges. Shri Khagendra Nath Sen, the Principal of the Asutosh College, stated that the college is running purely for imparting education and there is no other activity which can be said to be commercial in character. The Memorandum of Association of the Society known as 'Asutosh College' also shows that the object of the Society was to promote the growth and spread of higher education, to impart instructions in the various subjects and courses that may be prescribed from time to time from the Calcutta University and to devise means and provide facilities for the physical, intellectual and moral training and education of students reading for any of the those examinations. The College has got certain extra-curricular activities in the nature of Sahitya Sammilan, Hindi Literary Society, Debating Club, Social Service, etc. None of these activities is such as to characterise the institute as anything but an educational institute.

The City College, it appears, was first started as a High School by Ananda Mohan Bose in collaboration with Pandit Shibanath Sastri and Surendranath Banerjea in 1879, and it was converted into a college in 1881. Ananda Mohan Bose made over the building erected for the purpose of Institution at 13 Mirjapur Street, to a body of Trustees in 1888, and in 1905 the college was placed under the control of a Society registered under Act XXI of 1860, which is now known as the Brahmo Samaj Education Society. The Women's Department of the college was opened in 1943 and the Commerce Department was organised in 1939. There are seven different college units of the Commerce Department which are housed in three buildings in three zones of the city—one at 102/1 Amherst Street, one at 13 Mirzapur Street and one at 28 Kankulia Road. These units are placed under the immediate supervision of persons designated as Vice-Principals of the college. From the Memorandum of the Association of the Brahmo Samaj Education Society, Ext. G, it appears that the objects of the Society are: (i) to promote the cause of education in its highest and widest sense, (ii) to acquire the buildings and other properties, movable and immovable, of the present college and school situated at Calcutta and elsewhere. One of the objects of the Brahmo Samaj Education Society was to publish and undertake the publication of text-books and other useful books or papers for the furtherance of the objects of the Society. The Governing Body of the Society consist of not less than 14 but not more than 17 members, and out of them ten are elected by the Executive Committee of the Sadharan Brahmo Samaj from among the members of the said Samaj, and three are elected from the teaching staff. The Society, i.e., Brahmo Samaj Education Society, is the owner of the properties of all these institutions. Shri Keswabeswa Bose, Secretary of the City College (Commerce Department), and member of the Governing Body stated that all the institutions, that is, the City lege (General Department), the City College mmerce Department) and the City College hool) of Calcutta, are separate from one another h separate administrative head, separate com-tee, separate funds and accounts. He further ted that the City College (Commerce Depart-nt) only have some publication work. A list of priced publication, numbering 10 in all, and a of non-priced, numbering 8 in all, are given Ext. H.

n account as to the receipt and payment for priced publication from 1953 to 1960 (seven rs) is submitted in Ext. 1. It appears from the l account in Ext. 1 that the maximum amount eived from the sale-proceed of the publication s Rs. 10,481.74 nP. in 1957-58. After payment cost of printing and the payment to authors it pears that there was a little surplus left as fit from the sale of the priced publication. re is nothing to challenge the correctness of the unt as given in Ext. 1. From that, there ains no doubt on the point that this part of the vity of the college, constitute only a small tion of the activities of the college, taken as a le and so even though this part of the activity, pure or simple, business enterprise, the charac-of the institution as an educational institution ot changed. While the priced publications are l to the students and to the outsiders, the non-ced publications are meant exclusively for the dents. The Commerce Department of the College s Shorthand and Type-writing classes. This is arently a branch of the Commerce Department. learned Representative of the Union argued t such an enterprise forming a part of the Com-rce Department is for the purpose of giving h education which is commercial in nature, and refore the college should be treated as run with otive to earn profit. I do not find any force in contention. An institution imparting lessons Type-writing and Shorthand does not necessarily ome a business organisation. There is much roversy on the point is to whether City College mmerce is an independent unit or that it is a artment of the City College itself. The activi-of the institution having the publication section stitute an insignificant part of the City College, mmerce. So even if City College (Commerce) taken as an independent unit, the College is not verted into an organisation having the charac-of a business. The vocational activity is as ch a part of education, as an education, impart-n the other courses of Art, Science and Com-rce as prescribed by the University of Calcutta.

he Charu Chandra College was established on October 1947. The family of late Dr. Charu ndra Chatterjee made generous donation for sake of the college. The University affiliated o the status of a degree college in Arts and mmerce in 1948 and permission to open evening A. Class was given in 1954. The prospectus of College for 1960-61 gives the names of the sons, numbering 15, out of which 4 are teachers' resentatives, constituting the College Council. agraph 5 of the College Constitution in Ext. E ws that general control and administration are ted in the college Council. Unlike the other eges there is no Board of Trustees given an r power of supervision of the college activities.

The aims and objects of the college as shown at paragraph 2 of the booklet of Constitution, Ext. E, show that it simply provides instructions in Arts, Science and Commerce with a view to pre-paring students for different Examinations of the University. It may as well impart education in any vocational or technological course. Shri Kanai-lal Mukherjee, Accountant, appearing on the side of the employer, categorically stated that the college has no commercial enterprise. He further stated that the college runs in defect, which is met by the Government. The college has got no fixed deposit. There is thus no doubt that the college is an educational institution.

So far as the other colleges, viz., Bangabasi, Asutosh, Surendranath, Vidyasagar, City are con-cerned, I find that the activities of the colleges are such as to impart education to the community.

The whole question here centres round the point as to whether in view of the aims and objects of the colleges, and their activities, these educational institutions can be termed as 'industry' as defined under the Industrial Disputes Act. That the non-teaching staff of the colleges are connected by a relationship of master and servant with respect to the authorities in charge of the management of the college is clearly established. The Managing Com-mittees, or the College Council or the Governing Bodies as the case might be stand in the position of employer with respect to the non-teaching staff and they exercise all powers of supervision and control as to appointment, promotion and posting over them. The Principal of the College occupies the position of the Chief Officer executing such powers as are delegated to him by the Managing Committee or Governing Body. The employees, in their turn, render their services, and are paid, for the services they render. The grievance of the employees who are thus connected by a relation-ship of master and servant, as wage-earners is that their conditions of services in the matter of wages paid and other matter are not just and fair. The reference for adjudication is made by the Govern-ment as such dispute between the parties do exist as a matter of fact.

There is as yet no decision of the Supreme Court on the point as to whether an educational institu-tion can be said to be an 'industry' as defined in the Act. But at the same time, there had been occasion when the Supreme Court in several deci-sions had to consider the meaning of the word 'industry' when the jurisdiction of the Tribunal, to entertain the dispute as referred to for adjudi-cation had been questioned. Both the parties referred to me the relevant case-laws in order to support their rival contentions. It would be naturally very necessary to consider these decisions in order to come to a conclusion, if the educational institutions, fall with the definition of 'industry'. There is one class of decision which relates to the local bodies, that is, the municipalities and corpo-ration and in that group falls the following decisions:

(2) Baroda Borough Municipality and its work-men (Supreme Court—1957, I, L.L.J., page 8).

(3) Corporation of the City of Nagpur and its employees and others (Supreme Court—1960, I, L.L.J., page 523).

(4) Sripur Municipality and its workmen (Supreme Court—1960, II, L.L.J., page 657).

In all these cases it had been held that when the services rendered by a local body is an 'industry', the employees in that department connected with service, whether financial, administrative or executive, would be entitled to the benefit of the Act. Considering the inclusive defination of the word 'industry' it was so held in the case of Nagpur Corporation that it must be construed as comprehending not only such thing as it signifies according to its natural import but also those things which the defination, declares that it should include. It was further pointed out upon reference to the title of the Act as well as its preamble with the historical background connected with the passing of the Act, that the said Act was introduced with a view to ameliorate the service conditions of the workers and that it was an important step in achieving social justice in an Welfare State, the constitution of which ensures a living wage for the people.

At the same time it was pointed out, in that decision, that such a wide meaning given to the word 'industry' embracing within its ambit, every calling service, employment of an employee or any trade business, calling or undertaking of an employer, will overreach the objects for which the Act was passed. Considering the question as to what types of activities in which employer and employee are connected by a relationship of master and servant, would be excluded from the operation of the Industrial Disputes Act, it was held that the regal function of the State—such as the legislative power, the administration of law and judicial power which constitute the inalienable and inexcapable functions of the constitutional Government would fall outside the definition of 'industry'. The activities and mode of work in the different departments of the Corporation, having multifarious duties to be performed in order to discharge its function with the help and assistance of the employees engaged in those departments were considered separately. One of such department was the Education Department, which looked after the primary education, i.e., compulsory primary education within the limits of the Corporation and employees of that department as well were found to be entitled to get the benefit of adjudication under the Act.

There is another series of decisions, relating to firm of Solicitors wherein the question arose if the employees of these firms, who are engaged for rendering services could seek the benefit of the Industrial Disputes Act, by way of an adjudication of their disputes through the Tribunal. Two of such discussions are given by the Calcutta High Court and one by the Bombay High Court, viz., (1) Dunderdale (D.P.) and others and Mukherjee (C.P.) and others (1958, L.L.J. II, p. 183), (2) Mohan Bagaria and Chatterjee (N.C.) and others (1958, L.L.J. II, p. 190) and (3) National Union of Commercial Employees versus Meher (1957 L.L.J. II, p. 593).

In the case reported in 1958, L.L.J. II, p. 18 his lordship held that a professional man like lawyer or a solicitor who renders his profession services to his clients and provides them with h professional skill and experience does an individu work. The fact that communications have to carried on and correspondence to be typed by typist, the fact that accounts have to be kept whic usually have to be done by Accountants, the fa that assistants are employed to assist do not mal the result or the product, joint as in an industr Naturally, therefore, simply because of the fa that a person following a profession as solicit has got to engage in employment some persons, do some routine type of work, the ultimate produ of the professional service rendered to the peop arising from the personal efforts, knowledge an training of the solicitors cannot be said to be a outcome of joint effort of labour and capita Learned professions understood in their profe sional sense, such as the profession of medicine of law are not industries unless some outstandin features of industry is added to them. A lawy by running a business of legal publications or medical man by running a hospital or a druggi shop may become an industry. So mere employ ment of persons to render service, does not conver the activity or enterprise to the position of a industry as contemplated under the Industrial Di putes Act. Every aspect of activity in which th relationship of employer and employee exists arises does not thereby become an industry commonly understood. The position, therefore, that the firm of solicitors, even though engagin employees, has been held to be outside the opera tion of the Industrial Disputes Act.

The characteristic test, which is to be applie in order to determine whether an activity on th part of an individual or a body is to be deemed a an industry had been expounded in the Australia decision of the Federated Municipal and Shir Council Employees' Union of Australia (26 Commw L.R. 508).

The learned judges there emphasised the elemen of co-operation between labour and capital as th significant and distinctive test of 'industry'. Th legal and the medical profession were found to b excluded from the definition of industry as the are not carried on by the co-operation of labou and capital.

In fact the two essential requirements to con stitute an industry are:

(i) that these should be operative in whic labour and capital co-operate;

(ii) that such operatives should be for th satisfaction of human wants or desires.

The first essential element as stated being absen a firm of solicitors, it was found to be not a industry.

The question as to whether the activities carrie on by an University would be covered by the defini tion of 'industry' came up for decision before th Andhra Prodesh High Court when a dispute aros between the Osmania University and its employees like chaprasi, cycle orderly, head ayahs, ayahs sweepers, washermen, telephone operators, scaven gers and milkmen, regarding the demands fo revision of wage-scales and fixation of dearnes owance. The decision is reported in 1960, I, L.J., p. 593. In that decision the Hon'ble High urt considered the decision given by the Calcutta gh Court and that of the Bombay High Court as orted above, relating to firm of solicitors. sides, the decision given by the Australian Court the case of Federated State School Teachers' sociation of Australia versus State of Victoria C.L.R. 569) was taken into consideration. The glish or Canadian States do not afford any istance on the meaning of the word undertaking. at word does not occur either in the definition of ade disputes' of or 'workmen' or 'employee'. the Australian Federal Statute (The Commonalth Conciliation and Arbitration Act, 1904) is i materia and therefore the cases decided by the gh Court of Australia are very helpful.

The Federal Australian Act defines "industrial pute" thus: "It means (a) a dispute (including reatened, impending or probable dispute) as to lustrial matters which extends beyond the limits any one State and .....". "Industrial matters" ording to its definition given in that Act means ll matters pertaining to relations of employers d employees, etc.," and the definition of 'indus- ' is as follows:

"Industry includes—

(a) any business, trade, manufacture, undertaking or calling of employers;

(b) any calling, service, employment, handicraft, or industrial occupation or avocation of employees; and

(c) a branch of an industry and a group of industries".

Clauses (a) and (b) are almost on the same terms the definition given in our Act, the only difference is that instead of the word "means" the word "includes" and there is the additional clause, use (c), which is not relevant to the case before The meaning to be attached to the term 'underking' occurring in association with the words usiness", "trade", "calling", and "manufacre" in this definition of "industry" came up for nsideration before the High Court of Australia. those cases it was generally observed that an dustry contemplated by the Act is apparently ie in which both employers and employees are gaged, and not merely industry in the abstract nse, in other words, the labour of the employee ven in return for the remuneration received from s employer engaged in trade, business, manufacre, or undertaking or following a calling.

In this decision of the Australian High Court herein the majority decision was delivered by arned Chief Justice Mr. Knox it was held that ie scheme of Education forced upon the communies of States by law would not be treated as fallg which the meaning of 'Industry' and, therere, the teachers could not be treated as 'workmen' engaged in the industry and the dispute used by them is not an industrial dispute. At ie same time a note of dissent was given by two, t of six judges, and Mr. Justice Issacs in deliverg the minority judgment differed from his colleues. In that judgment a view was taken that runng of service is as much production of wealth as ie making or manufacturing of commodities. In ie case of Hospital Mazdoor Sava versus the State Bombay, reported in 1957, I, L.L.J., p. 55, a Division Bench of Bombay High Court held that a group of hospitals run and maintained by the Government to provide medical relief and promote ith health for the people of Bombay, and which are also run as providing for training ground for students in all branches of medical knowledge and for the advancement of such knowledge was to be treated as an industry and, therefore, a dispute between the authorities of the hospital and their employees was an industrial dispute which could be decided by the Tribunal which had jurisdiction to decide and adjudicate upon such dispute. In that decision the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Chagla, Chief Justice of the High Court, found himself unable to accept the view taken by the majority of the judges and preferred the view taken by Mr. Justice Issacs in the case reported in 41 C.L.R. at page 469. This decision of the Bombay High Court was challenged in an appeal preferred to the Supreme Court, and the appeal was dismissed by the Division Bench of the Supreme Court. The decision is reported in 1960, I, L.L.J., p. 251. In that judgment, it was, however, observed that though section 2(j) of the Industrial Disputes Act used words of very wide denotation, a line would have to be drawn in a fair and just manner so as to exclude some callings, services or undertakings. If all the words used are given their widest meaning, all services and all callings would come within the purview of the definition. It was at the same time pointed out that it was somewhat a difficult problem to decide where the line should be drawn and what limitations could be reasonably implied in interpreting the wide words used in section 2(j) of the Industrial Disputes Act. It was also pointed out that the character of the activities would decide the question as to whether the activities in question attract the provision of section 2(j), and it made no material difference as to who conducted the activity and whether the activity was conducted for profit or not. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in course of decision also considered the view expressed by the Hon'ble Labour Appellate Tribunal in the case of Vishudhananda Saraswati Marwari Hospital versus their workmen, reported in 1952, II, L.A.C. p. 562, along with the notes of dissent given by Mr Justice Issacs of Australia in the case reported in 41 C.L.R. p. 569 and found that the activities of hospital as revealed from the facts and evidence indicate that it falls within the definition of 'industry'.

In the case reported in 1952, II, L.A.C. at page 562, the learned Appellate Tribunal discussed at length the policy and object of the Act, several judgments cited before it and came to the conclusion that the definition of 'industry' in section 2(j) was of wide amplitude. The view taken by the Hon'ble Tribunal in that case had never been doubted or dissented from in any subsequent adjudication. It may also be noted here that the principle enunciated in the note of dissent by Issacs, J. in the case mentioned above, have always received approval from the tribunals in this country and elaborate reasons for the same had been given by the Hon'ble Chief Justice, Mr. Chagla of the Bombay High Court, in the case of Bombay Hospitals at page 62, of the law report in 1957, L.L.J., Vol. I, page 55, as follows:

"Mr. Justice Issacs, in delivering the minority judgment, has differed from his learned collegues on certain fundamental and basic matters. It has often happened in judicial history that although momentarily the verdict has gone against a Judge, the final and ultimate verdict has gone in his favour, and what was a dissenting judgment has come to be accepted as enunciating the sound principles of law. It must be borne in mind that this judgment was given in 1929 when the world had still rather strange views about labour matters, social legislation and employer-employee relations and it is rather striking to see the view put forward by Mr. Justice Issacs in that year.

The learned Judge rejects the contention that it is only when there is co-operation between employer and employee to produce wealth in the sense of producing commodities that you have an enterprise which can be characterized as an 'industry', because this contention is an echo from the dark ages of industry and political economy, and he takes the view that running of services is as much production of wealth as the making or manufacturing of commodities".

These observations of Hon'ble Justice Chagla are highly instructive. Taking into consideration the aims and object of the Industrial Disputes Act and the present socio-economic condition of the country, I find no reason why as many workers as possible should not obtain the benefits and safeguards given to workmen under the Act. There must be very strong and cogent reason before a particular group of wage-earners can be prevented from reaping the benefits of the Industrial Disputes Act when a very wide definition of industry has been purposefully inserted. In the face of such difficulties in interpreting the meaning of the word 'industry', a working principle had been enunciated by the Hon'ble Supreme Court to indicate what attributes are to be considered in determining whether a particular activity pursued by a concern would bring it within the meaning of the word 'industry' as defined in the Industrial Disputes Act. The principle is as follows:

"An activity systematically or habitually undertaken for the production or distribution of goods or for the rendering of material services to the community at large or a part of such community with the help of employees is an undertaking. Such an undertaking generally indicates the co-operation of the employer and the employees, and its object is the satisfaction of material human needs. It must be arranged in a manner in which trade or business is generally organised or arranged. It must not be casual, nor must it be for oneself nor for pleasure. Thus the manner in which the activity in question is organised or arranged, the conditions of the co-operation between the employer and the employee necessary for its success, and its object to render material service to the community can be regarded as some of the features which are distinctive of activities to which section 2(j) applied."

Applying these principles to the facts of the case in which Ahmedabad Textile Industry's Research Association stood in the position of employers and certain class of employees under them as workers, the Supreme Court in the case, reported in 1960, L.L.J., II, p. 720, held that the Ahmedabad Textile Industry's Research Association started for the purpose of carrying on research and other scientific work in connection with the textile trade or industry and other trades and industries allied therewith or accessory thereto with a view to help the member-mills to improve methods of production in order to secure greater efficiency, rationalization and reduction of costs, would be an undertaking within the meaning of section 2(j) of the Industrial Disputes Act. It has, however, observed by their Lordships in that decision that the activities of the Association had little in common with the activities of what might be called purely educational institution. But the fact remains that no opinion was expressed as to whether colleges would fall within the meaning of the word 'industry'. In the case of the Hospital Mazdoor Sava, the Supreme Court gave due importance to the principles enunciated in the minority judgment delivered by Issacs J, in the case of Federated State School Teachers' Association of Australia though it was made clear by their Lordships that they have expressed no opinion on the question as to whether running an educational institution would be an industry under the Act as that question did not arise in that proceedings. The only case I am aware of, in which the question as to whether a University is to be treated as an industry came up for consideration before the Hon'ble High Court in the case of Osmania University. But at the same time it has got to be noted that in the case of Osmania University, the employees involved in the dispute comprised of menial subordinate staff. In the present reference case I have already stated that the employees are comprised of all types of non-teaching staff including Librarians, Laboratory Assistants and Technicians. It is true that in an educational institution the services rendered to the community in the shape of education imparted to the students reading in those colleges come out mainly from the lessons imparted through lectures by the teaching staff. The teaching staff thus constitute the principal class of employees employed by the authorities to achieve the object for which the colleges function and exist. But at the same time the work in the Laboratory comprising of preparation of the different chemical compound and mixtures, setting up apparatus, fitting up of the same in the Laboratory, are mainly the job of the Laboratory Assistants and Technicians. It is also clear from the evidence that the Librarians help the students in the selection of books which they require for their studies. Even leaving aside these three categories of workmen, i.e., Laboratory Assistants, Technicians and Librarians, the other employees of the non-teaching staff doing menial or clerical work render such services for the running of the institutions which can be said to be of such nature without which it would be almost impossible to run the institutions. The clerks actually assist the students in their admission into the colleges. It is quite true that the value of their services and their qualifications and worth are far less compared to those of the teaching staff. For that such person can expect to have lesser remuneration compared to the teachers and professors. It is just a question of distribution of labour amongst the employees, each performing an essential service. But at the same time I cannot persuade myself to hold that the authorities of the eges, i.e., the Council or the Managing Committee, as the case might be, could run the organiion without the assistance, co-operation and help lered by the non-teaching staff. These colleges clearly organised in a manner, in which busis is generally organised, and obviously they ld not carry on their activities without the coration of the non-teaching staff. In the City lege, the total number of employees is 706, ong which there are 369 teachers' 126 ministe- workmen, 23 technical hands and 188 belongto the subordinate category. The services dered by such huge proportion of employees onging to non-teaching staff, indicate that ess there was active co-operation coming from n-teaching staff in running the institutes, the mal activities of the institution would have been ralysed. Shri Gouri Kanta Bhattacherjee, ofessor of Vidyasagar College, in his deposition ted that the institution could not be run without co-operation of non-teaching staff. The ployees of the colleges also deposed to that ct. The position might have been different if teachers themselves could do the entire work to imparting education to the students in the titution without any help of a substantial degree m others. As for instance, it may be said that utorial college, which is run entirely by men onging to the teaching profession is an activity a type where there is no co-operation of labour l capital. The tutorial colleges are not generally ganised or arranged in the manner as colleges are anged and organised. Here the colleges issue gular advertisement for attracting students, issue spectus notifying the special features and actiies of the colleges, undertake work of expansion constructing building and opening new courses, d invest money in safe deposit with Banks or in overnment securities. The colleges are educaonal institutions which are clearly organised in e manner in which business is generally organis-. The object of the college in imparting educaon of various types is for the satisfaction of the ople. The learned lawyer for the employer gued that the education imparted by the college not in the nature of satisfaction of material eds, and the services to the community rendered e not material services.

Material service means substantial service In y opinion, the word, material should be construed s meaning anything which is not spiritual The ed for education is designated to satisfy a materi- human desire and want, and the services endered by the colleges directly result in the aterial prosperity of the people.

The defination of 'workman' as given in section 2(s) of the Act, clearly excludes such employees who are engaged in Defence and Police services. That defination, of course, does not give an exhaustive list of employees or persons rendering service to an employer, debarred from raising industrial dispute. But, when a particular class of employees are to be denied the benefits conferred by the Industrial Disputes Act, for settlement of disputes, there must be very good reasons for the same. I find no such reason to exclude the employees, that is, the non-teaching staff of colleges from the operation of the Industrial Disputes Act.

Hence upon consideration of the activities of these colleges, I hold that these institutions carry on activities falling within the broad meaning of the word 'industry' as defined in the Industrial Disputes Act and the Tribunal has jurisdiction to adjudicate upon the disputes.

The authorities of the Muralidhar Girls' College (Serial No. 9 in the list) also raised the same legal objection as to jurisdiction But in the midst of the hearing of the case, when evidence was being adduced, on 26th April 1961, the authorities of the college and the Union filed a joint petition of compromise stating therein that the dispute had been amicably settled outside the Tribunal.

In that petition, duly signed by the parties, the terms of compromise are recorded. I allow the prayer of the parties and record the terms of settlement and pass an award for that college.

The legal objection as to jurisdiction raised by the colleges in serial Nos. 1, 2, 3, 5, 7 and 8 stands disallowed.

An interim award is, accordingly, passed. So far as Muralidhar Girls' College, a final award is made in terms of compromise, making the petition of compromise, a part of the ward marked as as Annexure 'A'.

The above dispute over the issue given in the order of reference and reproduced below was referred for adjudication to this Tribunal by the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 6328-I.R./IR/111-454/60, dated the 2nd December 1960.

The issue referred for decision stands thus—

Issue

Whether the dismissal of Sri Pashupati Karar is justified? To what relief, if any, is he entitled?

I proceed at once to take up the decision of the Issue on merits. The relevant facts of the case and the respective cases of the parties in regard to the issue will appear from the following discussions.

The undisputed position is that this worker was served with the charge-sheet, Ext. B, dated 5th November 1959, and he submitted his reply to the charge-sheet by letters, Exts. B(1) and B(2) and then by the notice Ext. B(3), dated 10th November 1959, he was asked to appear at the enquiry regarding the charge-sheet to be held on 19th November 1959 and he appeared at the enquiry proceedings which continued for three days, the exact dates on which the enquiry proceedings took place being 19th November 1959, 24th November 1959 and 26th November 1959 and after the enquiry proceedings were completed, the enquiring officer found him guilty of the charges and thereupon he was dismissed by the Company by the letter, Ext. E, dated 15th December 1959, with effect from 6th November 1959, from which date he was kept under suspension. Ext. C has been proved without dispute to be the enquiry proceedings in respect of the charge-sheet, dated 5th November 1959. The enquiring officer was Shri Netai Mohan Pachal, a Director of the Company. The enquiry proceedings were recorded under his supervision. There were three items of charges in the charge-sheet, dated 5th November 1959, and these were as follows:—

(i) that on 5th November 1959 a serious defect in the moulding of an article ordinarily known as "Hanser Pa" in the factory was noticed and moulding of this article was entrusted to this worker solely on 30th October 1959;

(ii) this worker was found making arrangements for boring the aforesaid defective article without taking any permission from the authorities and this was noticed by a Director of the Company, Shri Gour Mohan Pachal, and thereafter he was asked to come to the office in connection with this matter by Gour Babu; and

(iii) that in course of conversation with Gour Babu in the office, the worker behaved insolently and haughtily and went to the length of indulging in shouting before the said Director.

It appears from the replies to the charge-sheet, Exts. B(1) and B(2), that the concerned worker practically admitted that there was defect in moulding the article in question and arrangements for boring the article in order to cure the defect were actually being made, but he pleaded that the moulding job was not entrusted to him solely and exclusively but there were three other persons jointly engaged with him in that work and that he did not arrange for boring the defective article on his own initiative but this was done under the advice and instruction of Dasu Mistri. He also admitted that the Director, Gour Babu, called him to the office in connection with the defective moulding and arrangement for boring and he had talks with the Director over the matter but he denied that he behaved insolently or haughtily towards the Director. After this, the notice of the enquiry regarding the charge-sheet, Ext. B(3), was issued and thereafter the enquiry was held on 19th November 1959, 24th November 1959 and 26th November 1959 according to the proceedings recorded in Ext. C. The recorded proceedings show that there was a thorough and elaborate enquiry and quite a number of witnesses including the witnesses cited by the concerned worker, viz., Dasarathi Mistri, Ananta Das and Suren Pal were examined at length. That these three persons were cited as witnesses by the concerned worker will clearly appear from the letter, Ext. 1, dated 25th November 1959, which purports to be a letter of protest regarding certain alleged serious irregularities in the enquiry proceedings. It was alleged in this letter that this worker cited three witnesses in support of his reply to the charge-sheet and they were Shri Dasarathi Samanta, Shri Ananta Das and Shri Surendra Nath Pal and among them only Shri Dasarathi Samanta was called by the Company to give evidence, but the other two witnesses were not called at all. This allegation is directly contradicted and falsified by the record proceedings which clearly show that all these three witnesses were examined. Shri Ananta Das has been examined as a witness for the Union in the present case. He has clearly admitted that he was examined in the enquiry proceedings on the last day. Another contention raised against the validity and bona fides of the enquiry proceedings is that the statements of the concerned worker, Shri Pashupati Karar, and his witnesses were not correctly and properly recorded. It appears that besides the letter, Ext. 1, dated 25th November 1959, to which I have already referred, the Union wrote three other letters dated 22nd December 1959 [Ext. 1(a)] and 27th November 1959 (Exts. 2 and 3) to the Assistant Labour Commissioner, Howrah, complaining of several irregularities in the enquiry proceedings and it was alleged in these letters that the statements of the witnesses examined on behalf of the concerned worker were not correctly and properly recorded. Of the four aforesaid letters, three, viz., Exts. 2 and 3, dated 27th November 1959, and Ext. 1(a), dated 22nd December 1959, were written after the completion of the enquiry proceedings and only one, Ext. 1, dated 25th November 1959, was written during the continuance of the enquiry proceedings. I have already shown above that one of the contentions in this letter stands flatly contradicted by the enquiry proceedings and also by the evidence of P.W. 3 Shri Ananta Das. The other allegations in this letter about not properly recording the statements of the concerned worker, Shri Karar, have not been proved to be bona fide or correct. The allegations are vague in material particulars and I am unable to believe the equally vague and interested testimonies of the concerned worker in this respect. Exhibit 1(a) does not contain any particular allegation of not recording or misrecording the statements of any witness examined on behalf of the concerned worker but contains a general allegation that the Company was guided by an attitude of victimisation towards the worker for his trade union activities and no fair enquiry was held. This letter was written after the conclusion of the enquiry and even after the letter of dismissal, dated 15th December 1959. In the letters Exts. 2 and 3, there are allegations that the statements of Dasarathi Samanta, Ananta Das and Suren Pal, witnesses for the concerned worker in the enquiry, were not properly recorded and portions of their depositions were either distorted or omitted and some statements were recorded which they never made. Dasarathi Samanta and Ananta Das have in their evidence before this Tribunal also made statements in line with this letter but I have not been impressed by eir testimonies in this respect. It is significant note that all these letters were sent direct to he Assistant Labour Commissioner behind he back of the Company and the enquiring fficer and they were never informed of he contents of the letters which sought to hallenge the correctness and bona fides of the quiry proceedings conducted by the enquiring ficer. It is further significant that no petition protest against the alleged irregularities in cording the evidence of any of these witnesses as filed before the enquiring officer in course of enquiry proceedings. It is also important to that the enquiry proceedings were signed all these persons. The recorded enquiry edings, Ext. C, contains signatures of the rned worker, Pashupati Karar up to the d day of the enquiry and it is admitted by 2 Dasarathi Samanta and P.W. 3 Ananta that they gave thumb impressions in the rded enquiry proceedings after other persons signed them on the days on which they were mined The last day's enquiry proceedings do contain the signature of the concerned worker it contains the signatures of some other sons present. The thumb impressions of endra Nath Pal, an admitted witness for the cerned worker, also appears in the proceedings the last day. The concerned worker, Pashupati rar, has admitted in his evidence that he got pies of the proceedings of the enquiry for the st two days and he was present at the enquiry the third day and the copies of the proceedings this day was offered to him but he refused to cept it on the ground that all matters were pt correctly recorded. Considering the entire rded enquiry proceedings, Ext. C, in the light he evidence of the concerned worker, Pashupati ar, and his two witnesses Dasarathi Samanta Ananta Das, and also in the light of the lence of Shri Netai Pachal (O.P.W. 1), a ector of the Company, who held the enquiry. ave no hesitation to reject the allegations of gularities in recording the evidence of the nesses for the concerned worker and to hold t there was a very thorough and elaborate quiry and all possible opportunity was given the concerned worker to put forward his defence ainst the charge-sheet by evidence and all the itnesses cited by him were called and examined s such, it was quite a fair and bona fide ry, which strictly conformed to all principles tural justice. There was certainly no basic or any perversity on the part of the Company lding the enquiry. I do not also believe the sought to be put forward on behalf of the n that the Company was guided by an attitude timisation against the concerned worker for Union activities in the matter of holding the ary and the enquiry was nothing but a mere e without any substance for the purpose of imising the concerned worker by dismissal. ording to his evidence, the concerned worker nothing more than a committee member of the on, but there is no satisfactory and reliable lence to show that the Company was or is erally ill-disposed towards the Union and was the lookout for punishing the Union members workers on some pretext or other by way of timisation. Furthermore, it is to be noted that the three specific charges contained in the present charge-sheet, dated 5th November 1959, the facts underlying the first two charges have been practically admitted by the concerned worker and these facts are the defective moulding of "Hanser Pa" and making arrangements for boring the article for remedying the defect without the permission of authorities of the Company. In this case, I would also refer to the admitted position that this very worker was previously charge-sheeted seven times in his service career of 11 years and all the charges were for defective works. The documents of Ext. A series relate to the previous charges and contain the charge-sheets and replies given by the concerned worker and it appears from these documents that on all the previous occasions, the Company took a lenient view of the charges which were mostly admitted and let him off with warnings. This certainly bespeaks a generous attitude of the Company towards the worker and not an attitude of victimisation. Considering all the aforesaid facts and circumstances, I have no hesitation to hold that in the present case the Company instituted the enquiry with a perfectly open and unbiased mind and not at all in a spirit of victimisation. I am also satisfied after a careful consideration of the enquiry proceedings that upon materials forthcoming in course of the enquiry before the enquiring officer, it was perfectly justified for him to accept at least the first two charges regarding defective moulding and making arrangements for boring the article for curing the defect without the permission of the authorities of the Company. I am also satisfied that there was such evidence in support of the third charge as could be believed and be a sufficient ground for the finding that the concerned worker behaved insolently and haughtily towards the Director, Shri Gour Mohan Pachal, when he was called to the office for talks in regard to the facts covered by the first two charges. Shri Gour Mohan Pachal, the Director concerned, himself gave evidence before the enquiry and the enquiring officer was quite free to believe him having regard to the context of events in which this worker was called to the office in presence of the Director and talked to about the facts underlying the first two charges. It is in the evidence of Shri Gour Mohan Pachal that the concerned worker shouted at him and he used insulting language The finding of the enquiring officer that the concerned worker was guilty of all the three charges, which is referred to in the letter Ext. E, cannot, therefore, be said to be absolutely perverse or baseless I should here dispose of one little point which relates to the responsibility of the concerned worker for the defect found in the moulding work of the "Hanser Pa" in question. It has been sought to be strenuously contended on behalf of the concerned worker that he alone was not entrusted with this moulding work but three other workers also worked with him on the same job and so if any defect occurred in the job, he alone could not be found responsible for it and punished for it accordingly. Unfortunately, however, the concerned worker has completely thrown away this case by clearly admitting in his evidence before this Tribunal that he was solely entrusted with the work of moulding this "Hanser Pa" and Gour Babu gave him this work (vide page 3 of his evidence) It cannot be said, therefore, that it was a case of joint and collective responsibility of this worker along with some other workers and as such, the Company acted unfairly and contrary to the principle of natural justice in singling him out for punishment in the present case for the charges arising out of the defective moulding of the "Hanser Pa" in question and then trying to rectify the defects by boring. Dasarathi Mistri might have advised the work of boring, as now alleged on behalf of the concerned worker but it cannot be said that this work was sought to be done under proper authorisation of the Company. When it is admitted that this concerned worker was solely entrusted with the execution of this moulding work, he should not have taken the added responsibility of boring the defective moulding for the purpose of rectification without taking permission from any of the Directors of the Company. It should be recalled in this connection that this worker has clearly admitted that Director Gour Babu solely entrusted him with this work. His permission at least should have been taken for the boring work. It is further clear from the evidence before this Tribunal and also before the enquiring officer that Gour Babu was present in the workshop on that day.

In the above view of the facts and circumstances appearing from the materials legally placed before this Tribunal, I am satisfied that the facts underlying the three charges in the charge-sheet, dated 5th November 1959, were correct and there was a fair, proper and bona fide enquiry into the charges by the Company and at the enquiry the concerned worker had suitable and sufficient opportunity to put forward his defence against the charges and support it by evidence, that the enquiry was a thorough and elaborate one and conformed to all the principles of natural justice, that there was no basic error or perversity in the finding of the enquiring officer that that the concerned worker was guilty of all the three charges and that the Company was not actuated by the motive of victimisation in holding the enquiry.
